STRIKE-LEADERS ARE HELD ON INDICTMENTS

Released on Bail—Habeas Corpus
Argument for Others Will Be Heard This Morning.

Court proceedings in the cases of the strike leaders yesterday finally resulted in the release of Makino and his colleagues on bail after formal charges of being disorderly persons and conspiracy had preferred against them, Tasaka, Kawamura and Negoro being included in a joint indictment that was found by the grand jury after it had been in session during the greater part of the morning.

Goa Wan Hoy and K. Kawasaki are sureties for the men. On the charge of being disorderly persons Judge Robinson fixed the bond at $250, and on the charge of conspiracy the bond was fixed at $1000.

The five Japanese who were arrested as witnesses and all connected with the Nippu Jiji, also secured their release in the afternoon, bonds being fixed at $350 each. The men were M. Yamashiro, K. Kawamoto, S. Ihara, Y. Imai, H. Takemura and T. Okumura.

The disposition of these cases all occurred before Judge Robinson. The writ of habeas corpus for the twenty-four Japanese taken into custody in connection with the assault on a countryman who desired to return to work, was argued before Judge Whitney, but the cases went over by agreement until 9 o'clock this morning, at which time the prosecution will submit the names of the men they desire to hold, releasing those whose testimony would simply tend toward duplication. Judge Whitney will then fix bail for the Japanese that it is the desire of the prosecution to hold as witnesses.

Kinney Makes Charge.
"The Territory of Hawaii is in the hands of a criminal organization," was the statement that W. A. Kinney made before Judge Whitney during the course of the proceedings, and he declared in emphatic terms that the issue before the people of Hawaii was whether the government should be predominant or is to be influenced in the enforcement of the law by a collection of aliens that are presenting a solid front against the administration of justice and the apprehension of criminals who have been guilty of attacks on their own countrymen.

Upon the convening of the session the firm of Kinney, Ballou, Prosser and Anderson were entered as counsel of record assisting the prosecution on the motion of Attorney General Hemenway.

After some preliminary remarks the writ was quashed by Judge Whitney with the understanding that the defense and prosecution should immediately proceed with the question of bailability. Attorney General Hemenway taking the stand that the men should not be admitted to bail and being supported in argument by Mr. Kinney, the latter summarizing the whole situation that confronted the government officials in enforcing the law.

Kinney declared that the power existed in the discretion of the court to remand the prisoners without bail, even if they were only held as witnesses. He said that the opinion of the Attorney General should be sufficient foundation for the court refusing bail, it being plain that the interests of justice would be defeated by allowing the witnesses to go free and be influenced by the threats and intimidations of others.

BALDWIN SAYS JAPS WILL BE SUPPLANTED

VANCOUVER (B. C.), June 3.—H. P. Baldwin, head of the firm of Alexander, Baldwin & Co., the largest sugar planters in Hawaii, announced here today that on account of the difficulty planters had lately experienced with Japanese workmen, Japanese labor in the islands would be dropped and Portuguese will be imported to take their places.

A. J. Campbell, former Territorial Treasurer for Hawaii, left Vancouver today for London, en route to Portugal, empowered to arrange for the emigration of 10,000 workmen from Portuguese towns and the Azores to Hawaii. Seven thousand Japanese are now on strike in Hawaii. Industrial affairs have reached a climax because of the inability of the planters to handle their labor. Baldwin says that every Japanese workman will be discharged if Portuguese can be obtained.

OVATION GIVEN MAKINO AFTER HIS RELEASE

The trinity of "martyrs," Makino, Negoro and Soga, were given an ovation by some thousand of their followers when they appeared among them yesterday afternoon, after being released on bail from the custody of the High Sheriff. The Japanese had massed themselves before the Yamashiro hotel, on Beretania avenue, the strike leaders' headquarters, and there, for two hours, they waited for Makino and the others to appear, listening in the time of waiting to little talks of minor leaders and giving banzais for the Higher Wage Association, its leaders and whatever else occurred to them as worthy of cheers.

Yamashiro, one of the released leaders, was the first to appear before the assembly. Wreathed in smiles at the reception he was receiving, the treasurer of the association mounted a bench before his hotel and allowed himself to be banzaied. He made a speech, which could not be heard two yards away but which was banzaied by the Japanese across on the Aala Park grass nevertheless.

Shortly after four o'clock, Makino, Hegoro, Soga and about a dozen others arrived. Their appearance was the signal for uproarious cheering, which the leaders acknowledged by a series of bows. The gathering worried Makino, who remembered the notices issued forbidding unlawful assemblies and appeared to have no desire to go back to the reef as an aider and abettor in one. He passed hurriedly into the hotel, after he and the others had been met at the door by a reception committee and congratulations on their escape from the clutches of High Henry (Continued on Page Eight.)

CHAUFFEUR PAID DAMAGES ON SPOT

Another automobile accident is reported to have occurred yesterday afternoon, at the corner of Maunakea and King streets. A passing machine smashed into a hack horse, the force of the impact breaking the shafts from the hack and tossing horse and shafts up on to the sidewalk. The owner of the hack, a pake, as soon as he came to from his fright, clambered out of the hack and carefully felt the horse all over, in a search for broken bones. The auto stopped close by, the occupants watching the examination with blanched faces. Turning to them, after his examination, the Chinaman said:

"No pillika. I think mebbe you five dollar pay, all right."
Without a moment's hesitation the chauffeur dug up a five and passed it over, then scooted.
"Walla matter him?" asked the astonished pake. "Five dollar pay, wikkild go, no talk, no swar. Walla matter?"

LAD DIES BY HIS OWN HAND MUTINY AND A FIGHT ENSUES

Seventeen - Year - Old
Stanley Bellina a Suicide.

Seventeen-year-old Stanley Bellina, son of W. E. Bellina of the Club Stables, committed suicide by hanging himself with his own lariat underneath his home in Palolo valley yesterday afternoon shortly before five o'clock. The suicide of the young boy is inexplicable to those who know him best, his father and stepmother being unable to give any definite reason for the act.

Yesterday morning the boy acted a little peculiar, it seems, though nothing extraordinary was attached to it at the time. He appeared to be worried, though what about no one knows and probably never will know. Mr. Bellina, the boy's father, was downtown the greater part of the day. When lunch-time came, Stanley's stepmother called to him and ask him to come in and eat.

Then came the first indication that anything was wrong with the lad, for he refused to come inside the house, bursting out into tears and crying bitterly when he refused. What caused him—a boy of seventeen years—to so break down is a mystery. He was around the house the greater part of the afternoon, but did no work, apparently. (Continued on page 8.)

QUICK FULFILMENT OF DR. JAGGAR'S PROPHECY

Japan Times.—It is telegraphed from Sapporo that Dr. Jaggar, of America, who has explored the volcano Tarumaye, anticipates that it will become active twice this month, and four times each in June and in July, the first and most dangerous eruption occurring on the 15th inst. Consequently no person is allowed by the Muroran police to ascend the mountain, and all residents within five miles of the base of the volcano have been ordered to take refuge elsewhere.

The Prophecy Fulfilled.
A Japan Times of later date says: A Sapporo message says the volcano Tarumaye, which it was recently anticipated by Dr. Jaggar, of America, would soon show signs of activity, broke into eruption on the night of the 14th. Though the dates of eruption are different from those anticipated by Dr. Jaggar, two eruptions took place between the night of the 11th and the afternoon of the 15th, the eruptions being accompanied by loud rumblings. Fire was seen issuing from the crater, and ashes fell within five miles of the mountain.
A new crater has made its appearance to the south of the old one, and from this a huge column of black smoke issued. Residents on the base of the volcano continue to take refuge elsewhere.
